DR. C. McLANE'S
LIVER PILLS,
FOR THE CURE OF
Hepatitis or Liver Complaint,
DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.
Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.
PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder-blade, and it frequently extends to the tip of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for a rheumatism in the arm.
The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part.
There is generally a considerable loss of memory accompanied with painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility;
he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively diseased.

AGUE AND FEVER.
DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all Bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequalled.
BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.
The genuine Dr. C. McLANE'S
LIVER PILLS are never sugar coated.
Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression Dr.
McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.
The genuine Dr. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C.
McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist on your druggist or storekeeper giving you the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa.
Sold by all respectable druggists and country storekeepers generally.
To those wishing to give Dr. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS a trial, we will mail post paid to any of the United States, one box of Pills for twenty-five cents.

Lines on a Skeleton.
This poem was found on a skeleton of remarkable beauty of form in the British Museum. Every effort, even to the offering of a reward of fifty guineas, was vainly made to discover the author:

Behold this ruin! 'Twas a skull
Of ethereal spirit left;
This narrow cell was life's retreat;
This space was thought's mysterious seat.
But start not at the dismal view;
What dreams of pleasure, long forgot;
Nor Love, nor Hope, nor Joy, nor Fear,
Have left one trace of record here.

Beneath this moldering canopy
Once shone the brilliant and happy eye;
But now the vacant sockets stare
In social Love that eye employed,
It with no lawless fire it gleamed,
But through the dew of kindness beamed;
That eye shall be forever bright
When stars and suns are sunk in night.

Within this hallow cavern here
The ready, swift and lonely tongue,
If Palesbury's honey is declined,
And when it could not praise was chained.
It bled in Virtue's cause it spelt
Yet gentle concord never bro'
This silent tongue shall plead for thee
When Time's wheels have rolled away.

Say, did these fingers drive the mine?
Or with its ev'ry nerve shine?
No! the rock or war the mine?
No! the page or the page?
No! the page or the page?
No! the page or the page?
No! the page or the page?
No! the page or the page?

Buildings on the Sand.
'Tis well to woo, 'tis well to wed,
For so the world hath done
Since myrtle grew, and roses blew,
And morning brought the sun,
But have a care, ye young and fair,
Be sure you pledge in truth;
Be certain that you love will wear
Beyond the days of youth!
For you give not heart for heart,
As well as hand for hand,
You find you've played the untrue part,
And "build upon the sand."

'Tis well to marry, 'tis well to have A goodly store of gold,
And hold enough of dining stuff,
For charity is cold.
But place not all your hopes and trust
In what the deep night brings;
We cannot live on yellow dust
Unmoved with passing things.
And be who pile up wealth alone,
Will often have to stand
Beside the coffin chest, and own
The "build upon the sand."

'Tis good to speak in friendly guise,
And soothe where'er we can;
Fair words should kind the human mind,
And love that man to man.
But stop not at the gentle words;
Let words with language dwell;
The one who speaks of heaven and hell,
Should utter crumb as well.
The money that is warm and true
Must lend a helping hand,
For those that talk, yet fail to do,
But "build upon the sand."

Oh! Caught you, have we?

Reading a borrowed GAZETTE when it actually costs only two dollars a year! Are you not ashamed? Come up with your two dollars, and don't borrow any more.

—Do not express your opinions too freely and decidedly when it differs from those around you, for it does no good.
—A singular accident has happened to a man in London. He was smoking a clay pipe in the street, and was run against by another man. The pipe was thrust into his jaw and could not be extracted.

—A prophetic item remarks: "Palestine is to have a railroad, and the cry will soon be, 'All aboard for Jerusalem.'
Passengers for Meb and the Dead Sea will please remain in the forward car."
—A boy was much exercised for fear he would not know his father when they met. He said: "His name was changed him by saying, 'All you will have to do is to look for an angel with a red nose.'"

—Grant has introduced a new method of avoiding trouble from his political opponents! It is to call in the army and navy to help him defend himself when he is in a tight place. How do the people like the new idea?
